

Moving Lower-Level English Language Learners Upward & Outward with I-DEA

Presentation Overview

I-DEA (Integrated Digital English Acceleration), a flipped and blended OER curriculum for lower-level ELLs, develops integral communication and digital literacy skills, embedded in relevant content themes. The 31 modules can be mixed, matched, and tailored for local program parameters. Originally designed for a hybrid (online + F2F) format, I-DEA also offers flexibility for virtual delivery (pairing asynchronous and synchronous instruction). Presenters will share options for adapting curriculum upward to higher levels and connecting content outward to common meta-majors.

Presentation Materials

All presentation materials are located in a self-enroll Canvas course, so that participants are able to not only access the presentation slide show, but also access additional information on I-DEA, as well as the I-DEA modules that will be used during the presentation.
